

Almas Muscatwalla

Almas received her Bachelor's Degree in Psychology from Bombay University in 1989 and her Master of Science Degree in Child Development from Bombay University in 1991. Currently she is enrolled in a certificate program in 'Dispute and Conflict resolution' at SMU.

In her volunteer capacity, Almas is serving as the Outreach Director at Islamic Art Revival Series, a program of Texas Muslim Women Foundation and a board member of Texas Muslim Women's Foundation. She is also serving as chair of Interfaith Council and ex-officio board member of The Thanks-Giving Foundation in Dallas. She belongs to the Ismaili Muslim community where she is a member of the Communication and Publication Portfolio, involved in community outreach. She has two decades of experience in teacher training, curriculum development and human resource management. Almas is also serving as a board member at United Nations Association Dallas chapter.

Almas is a proud mother of two boys Naeem and Nabeel, ages 20 and 18 respectively.

Almas believes that worshipping God and serving humanity are the only two purposes of life".